“ Carol was my Mimi. She was my step grandmother but always treated me like her own. Even though I live far away she would always talk to me on Facebook. She would always say she was proud of me and I inspired her which I will keep near to my heart. I loved how Mimi was her own unique self and didn't care what anyone had to say. She danced when no one did. She shared her creative endeavors with us, like jewelry making and made it for her her kids, grandkids, and great grandchildren. She inspires me too. She was always curious when it came to our conversations and never judged. For example I ate vegan, and she would ask me questions in a kind way. I love and miss you forever Mimi. Thank you for being you, keep shining bright up there!

Miss carol was my neighbor and I took her as my grandma and she never treated me wrong never judged me always had positive things to say and took to suggest about certain situations and always was happy person and never doubted herself about anything she had a great life I remember every Wednesday and Friday she would go to the bar and drink have a good time and she would inspire me to do better and better in life and she also told me to have fun live life to the fullest I Love mascara with all my heart I cried my eyes out when I heard she passed because she asked me to stay with her that day and I was going through some stuff and I told her I would and I did but the next day I left and that's when she went downhill and fell and I wish I would have never left. 😞 I always love helping u with anything and everything those few days I spend with u and took care of u I knew then I wanted to stay and help u and never leave but I had to. Year's ago, i had many talks on the phone and facebook when she found our family page. i have good and bad memories she shared with me of our family history. As we talked for many times over the years. We can't change our history and if it weren't for all those skeletons out there. Neither one of us would be here today. After all those many talk's. One evening we finally connected at a small bar in Abbeville. I may have felt out of place that night just being there sharing family history and facts. I may have been the only sober one, but i felt like i was drunk living in all the facts of our family history. She made feel i belonged . Just meeting my cousin after all those years she made my evening more joy able and i will always shared those great times i went over. i also remember talking to a couple of guys that night who was interested in the history i had brought in folders and books. I remember a Shexneider and a Trahan i spoke to. I found that Trahan was a half brother to a family i had knew in Crowley. i wish i could've recalled his name, but it's a blurr from that crazy night. i know our age difference was tremendous but i never felt it. She was my Grandma's first cousin which their age difference was just a big gap also. Carol, i am glad to have reconnected with you after all those years and one day we will reconnect. Love yah and will always miss our talks.
