“ I got to know Mark when I was working for ATP. We started working together at ATP from around 2004 until 2012 and then with Marubeni until 2016. We both retired around the same time but have stayed in touch over the years.

Mark and I had many adventures together along the way. My favorite memory was our trip to Israel in 2012 with ATP. We worked together closely during that time, but my favorite part were the weekend trips we made around Israel. We went to the Dead Sea, Jerusalem, and Masada among other places. While we were at Masada, it actually came a sort of flash flood. We were told that it was kind of a big deal since it rarely rains at the Dead Sea.

Everyone that knows Mark knows that he is a good-natured kind of guy. I rarely saw Mark emotional, but did see a tear or two when we visited Jesus' tomb and saw the stone where he was prepared. It was quite soul stirring for both of us. Mark and I have spoken about the Lord several times since that day with the last time about a month before his passing. I will miss Mark. He was a special friend. It helps me to know that I will see him again one day soon, but this time with Jesus, the man whose empty tomb we visited together.
