“ A great friend with the best pair of hands, he could catch a football with the best of them but he didn't play high school football because he wore glasses and he knew his family couldn't afford to replace them. Who knows, with his ability he might have been a pro. I know I will truly miss him.

*Your friend,
Jimmy*

“ Brother Charles was a great person and very knowledgeable on many subjects. He always seemed to have the right answer when I had a problem. Some say he was out spoken, but I say he just expressed his true feelings. Now I sit and think of the good old times when we would play and throw the football in the street in front of the old house. Later he advised me on some legal matters concerning banking issues. In recent months when I would bring him for his doctor visits, I could see him growing weaker each time and it hurt me deep in side. I would say, " Charles you need to move around and work those muscles," but it seemed like he had already given up. Regardless of what or how some people felt about him, I loved him, not just because he was my brother, but he was a decent human being! Rest in peace brother and my God hold you in his arms!!!
