“ I’ve tried several times to write something here but couldn’t get to the end Dollie was my Sister, my Best Friend, My Everything. We were so close and I don’t know how to go on without her and the emptiness I feel without her is unbearable. She was an inspiration and her strength was incredible. The only peace I’ve found in any of this is that she’s not suffering anymore and I know she’s in heaven with our Mom. Anybody that knew Dollie knows how silly she was, so I know she’s up there cracking jokes making everyone laugh. I will miss her everyday and long for our hours of late night talks. I was incredibly blessed to have such a wonderful sister and I thank God so much for that. I know that Dollie would not want us to be sad and if there was one thing she could take from this, is that we all love each other and be there for each other and never let an opportunity pass us by to express that love, Never take time for granted. This was all so unexpected and I feel like I’m going to wake up from a bad dream. Dollie was an Amazing person and loved by many and will be sadly missed. I want her children to know she loved y’all so very much and would have done anything for y’all and her grandchildren to know she absolutely adored all of you and loved y’all to pieces, all of you was her world. There’s so much I want to thank her for and so much she accomplished. First I want to thank her for all her help with Sammy’s Alert Pet Rescue, it could of never got to what it is without her. She put her heart and soul in it and we rescued many pets because of her. Some how, some way, I will carry on her legacy with her social media platforms. I also want to thank her for being such a good sister and best friend, she got me through so much and was always there to help me no matter what. She was my big sister but she was always the baby and she will always be our baby. My heart breaks to say goodbye but I will see her face again but until then I will do everything with the intention of making her proud. My life will be empty without her daily encouragement, she was always so proud of me and made me know I could do anything as long as I put my heart into it. I will miss Dollie daily and forever love the Best sister anyone could ever ask for. (Listen song by Brandy / Missing you)

“ Sad to hear this news, her smile in the pictures is how I remember Dollie, always that big smile. I first met her at Oaklawn Jr. high school, we were in band together, she played clarinet. May she rest in peace.

“ Mama I will never forget all the fun we had the kisses we shared the mama love you used to give me. Who is gonna be rubbing my head and tell me they love me. I would never change anything about you. You were the best mommy you could be even though some of us never seen it. I love you mama. We will miss you everyday I don't know if this pain in my heart will ever go away. But I will keep you close to my heart. I'm glad you are no longer in pain and you can rest and watch me from Heaven waiting for the day I will join you mommy. God only knows how much I'm gonna miss you
