“ The last few days have not seemed real. Saying goodbye is never easy. The first time I laid eyes on you, you were a cute, bubbly 5 year old. Little did I know then that in less than a year I would be honored to become your Nan Deb. You had a tremendous impact on my life. You were the only Godchild I ever had and each time you called me Nan Deb it was such a warm feeling. I love you Ellen and you always made me feel loved. Thank you for being you. You have a permanent place in my heart. May you rest in peace. Goodbye Desr one until we meet again.

“ *Ellie, you will truly be missed. I'm so glad that you, Travis, and I connected and all of our true crime discussions we had. Fun!! You and I have had a great many conversations about genealogy. And you were working again on inputting your family history on Ancestry. You were a wonderful mother and grandmother always thinking of others and doing your best for them as well as the kids that you took care of. You were always putting everyone else's needs before your own! Such a beautiful, kind soul. Rest easy my friend.
Love, Gloria.*

“ Ellen, I can't believe you're gone. You and I have shared a lot over the last 57 years-some sad times, but mostly good times together. I will forever cherish the memories I have of us growing up together-from playing "Lost in Space" in our bed at night when you always wanted to play Penny, singing Elvis songs and Grease songs at the tops of our lungs, to stupid sister fighting over our chores, through becoming grown women who shared a lot of laughter and tears over each other's life happenings.... all the way to our trip to Dallas in search of beads, traveling down "Wafafawa Boulevard", crafting together. It has been a heck of a ride. My heart has a hole in it where you used to be, and I don't know if it will ever close. I will never stop missing you , my little sister. I know you are not suffering any more, no more misery, and especially nobody can ever hurt you again. You have peace now, and I can't wait to hug you again in heaven. I love you, Baby Sister- forever and ever and ever! Rest easy....
