“ Frank was one of the kindest and most giving people David and I knew. His sense of humor and upbeat personality made him very special to us. Full of surprises to delight our grandchildren, he painted rocks to look like frogs, strawberries, flowers, and other familiar things children would easily recognize and places them appropriately within the vegetable garden or flower beds. One summer he tried to trick me into thinking that there was -at last- a tiny watermelon finally growing on the many new watermelon vines. His creations are treasured and have a special place in our home. Thank you Frank for your work, friendship, and true blue character. We have missed you from your retirement to Louisiana and wish you had been able to enjoy many more years of hunting and your artistic talents.
