“ Josh always knew how much I loved you You kept in touch with me through out the years. My proudest moments was how you assisted the NVYAA. You were an awesome umpire. You knew how to deal with the players and their parents. Many will say there's a going to be the good the bad and the ugly. We had many talks you and I. I want you to know you held a special place in my heart, even though some will ask why, and the answer is I loved him through it all. Always know how much you meant to me. We are cousins but I felt like a could have took you from a child. I spoke to you, I praised you and most of all I asked God to protect you even through it all. Your eyes were so beautiful , I just wish I could have done more for you because you needed guidance. You have gained your angels wings.?Fly high dude God found you your near him and he'll judge you no one else will know what you wanted in life but you know what you want in the grace of God the almighty power, don't be afraid, you free from all you've been put through. It's now up to Jesus Christ our savior the only begotten son of God Our Father. Love you so much. It left me empty but it is at the hands of the Lord our father. Always know how much I loved you. God bless you Lydia and David this will be one of the hardest things a parents has to deal with. Grandparents I pray for yall also . His dear son needs yall more now than ever. Please reach out to him. Kayla love your brother wholehearted and unconditionally. Peace be among this family to heel and deal one moment at a time. 🙏🙏🙏🙏🙏❤️❤️ □

“ Josh was such an amazing kid! So full of energy and curiosity! He had the biggest heart I've ever known. He loved his mother, dad, sister and grandparents beyond measure. He was so much fun to be with. His brain moved so fast he could ask questions faster than you could answer them. He was so persuasive. When he looked at you with those big beautiful eyes you couldn't help but give him whatever he wanted. Especially cookies! He could eat more than anyone I've ever seen! We will always love him and treasure our beautiful memories. We look forward to seeing him again in heaven!
