“ Condolences to your family. Mr. Ray as my children and I called him was the "Best neighbor in the whole world" I'd always tell him that. We lived next door to each other. I'm a single mom and Mr. Ray made it his business to take care of us, weather we had a clog sink, a ruptured water or simple doorknob that needed to be tightened he would come running to help. He was a father figure to my son, John. He took John fishing and paid him $10-15 dollars an hour at the age of 12 to help him pick up tools and work.

Mr. Ray loved a good beer and smoked like a train. Many would say that these were bad habits and I guess they were, but Mr. had two good habits that many of us could learn. Mr. Ray first, loved people and secondly, helped people. Those are the two principles that Jesus came to teach us, to love one another and serve one another. It seems that Mr. Ray had a heart exactly like God wants us all to have.

I will love and miss Mr. Ray beyond words but will always remember and love him for his kindness. To my family he was more than a good neighbor he was our family.

Rest in Peace until we meet again,

Karen Walker and family
