“ Wayne had a full life, whether it was building our house or going to work in different countries, he very seldom complained. He liked the job he was doing. He was very interested in learning new ways of day to day living. He was proud of his success, especially on the ship. He liked the Astros, his Dodge diesel and his recliner! He loved his grandchildren and his 2 dogs. He said he liked my cooking and told me "I love you" so many times I can't say.
